

AT THE GATES

Janet Butler

the moment moves towards dusk and seems
the stuff of dreams
as it must

warm thoughts brushed
in pinks and blues and greens against a sky serene
that plunges, suddenly, to depths where Adam wept
and Eve yet waits, with downcast eyes, forgiveness from Paradise.

“at the gates” © 2007 by Janet Butler

Contemporary Rhyme Vol. 4 No. 1 2007