

EGRETS

Du Mu (803-852)

Snowy garments, snowy tufts, and mouths of jade.
A flock trawling for fish by the stream's shade.
Startled up, flashing far, for green peaks they head.
Blossoms of a single pear tree on the evening wind.

—Translated by Mark Francis

"Egrets" © 2007 by Mark Francis

Contemporary Rhyme Vol. 4 No. 4 2007