

NIETZSCHE

Nina Alvarez

Nietzsche walked atop a pin and wouldn't let old Bentham in he stalked and swayed and wrote alone
his words were etched in herring bone this herring bone then turned to gold while Bentham turned to dust and mold and why is it that Nietzsche stood?
"But I have not spared my own blood."

"Nietzsche" © 2007 by Nina Alvarez

Contemporary Rhyme Vol. 4 No. 4 2007