

POETIC JUSTICE

Rebecca Warren

When a bee stings something and turns and flies
It leaves its vitals behind too and dies.
Likewise I hurt you, leaving you weeping
And my heart forever in your keeping.

“Poetic Justice” © 2005 by Rebecca Warren