

POWER SUPPLY

David Blaine

Homo Sapien hard drive crash needs biological bios flash.
Illuminati dim and dying.
Cell phone ring no longer crying.
Auto starter clicking-clacking jumper cable sources lacking.
Dome light black light dashboard dark shove the shifter back in park.
Scan through discs to look for drivers install patches hope for rivers.
Order nicad cell replacement bar graph reading in the basement.
Magnet storm transformer whack power fades from brown to black.
Flat lined in the mind and heart rubber soul transfusion start.
OEM should be consulted operator error cited.
Warranty still validated what he needs will soon be sated.
Information clearly needed
ignorance of all conceded.
This is all the problem took—
Opened cover, read the book.

“Power Supply” © 2005 by David Blaine