

SELF-APPRAISAL

William Walden

My character is commonplace,
I have an ordinary face,
I hold familiar points of view,
I stick to dull routines like glue,
I dress in undistinctive clothes,
I'm satisfied with status quos,
On IQ tests I never fail
To score a normal on the scale.

Such dreary mediocrity
Should nettle or embarrass me,
Deflate my ego, wound my pride!
But I just take it all in stride.

“Self-Appraisal” © 2005 by William Walden