

THE WORLD LOST WELL

Christopher Mulrooney

the world shot her a wincing look scarcely meant to last she perused it like a book Miramax would cast

she is wise to all the tortures given unto men calcinated in real scorchers and quick-frozen then gross and pyramidal apes dazzle all your mind with servility and japes directed at your kind and who the hell are we but we and who but they are they oh take a look around and see the robot cameras play
