

THERE GO MY TOES

Frank Hubeny

She eyes my sock-less toes
And thinks that all of those
Are hers today.
Her claws are sharp, she knows.
I half expect to dose,
But then she strikes and shows
Me how to play.

“There Go My Toes” © 2007 by Frank Hubeny

Contemporary Rhyme Vol. 4 No. 4 2007