

WINTER

Michael Burch

The rose of lost potential lies tattered by the thorn;
her scent was sweet
but at her feet
the pallid lilies mourn.

The lilac of devotion
has felt the winter hoar
and shed her dress;
companionless,
she shivers at the door.

“Winter” © 2007 by Michael Burch

Contemporary Rhyme Vol. 4 No. 1 2007